Case No. 3:17cr36

JUDGE WALTER H. RICE

DECISION AND ENTRY REVOKING DEFENDANT'S BOND AND REMANDING HIM TO CUSTODY; RIGHT OF APPEAL EXPLAINED AND UNDERSTOOD; DECISION AND ENTRY OVERRULING DEFENDANT'S
MOTION TO REVOKE DETENTION ORDER PURSUANT TO 18 U.S.C.
§3145(b)

On March 16, 2018, at the conclusion of an oral and evidentiary hearing in open Court, the Defendant's bond, set on February 24, 2017, and met on February 27, 2017, was revoked and he was remanded to the custody of the United States Marshals to be held pending his sentencing set for May 9, 2018. His right of appeal was explained to and understood by him.

On April 6, 2018, the Defendant filed a Motion to Revoke the above mentioned Detention Order (Doc. #53). Said motion is OVERRULED. Not only did Defendant relate a story to the Pretrial Services Officer, Patrick Kennedy, explaining how his location monitoring transmitter was cut, a story refuted by common sense, but also by one's looking at the strap in question which clearly showed that same had been cut, rather than snagged on a chair and torn in that manner. In addition, his mother took the witness stand and told a very similar story that was likewise false.

The fact that Defendant has now admitted, in a letter transmitted to the Court, that he cut his ankle monitor does not belie the fact that he lied to the Pretrial Services Officer and that his mother, with whom he is to live if released, also was far less than truthful on the witness stand.

Accordingly, the Defendant's Motion to Revoke his Detention Order (Doc. #53) and release him, pending sentencing, to live with his mother, is OVERRULED.
